Invitation

Dear Industry Colleagues

On behalf of the Committee of the Queensland Mining Industry Health and Safety Conference, it gives me great pleasure to extend to you an invitation to the 2009 Conference which will convene in Townsville from the 23rd to 26th August.

Our theme this year is 'Safety and Health - everyone's business', one which will resonate with each and every stakeholder in our industry, especially during these most stressful of times. In 2008, over 700 people attended the conference, attesting to its relevance to the mining industry. With the challenging times we are all facing due to the global economic downturn, it is arguably even more important that we continue to try to reach more people, encouraging them to attend and to keep safety and health in the front of our minds.

Stressful times require positive action and therefore this year the conference will focus on how we can provide the tools and deliver the mindset to keep the workplace safe and healthy during one of the most difficult periods in our history.

Whilst it has been reported that Queensland's mining industry achieved its best safety performance on record in 2007-2008, the industry cannot rest on its laurels; indeed this fact only serves to raise the bar for the safety performance of Queensland's mining companies and their employees.

Highlights from the program this year will be presentations on legislation harmonisation, input from safety experts in other industry sectors and papers from mining industry leaders who will share their experiences and expertise with us. This will be particularly relevant in these current difficult economic times.

Innovations continue to be a major feature of the conference with the annual awards recognising the ingenuity and skills of the inventors, most of whom come from mine sites around Queensland.

Safety and health cannot be ignored in tough economic times and we must remain cognisant that safety and health and productivity are not mutually exclusive. In recent years we have had excellent safety and health outcomes and the focus of this conference must be on maintaining that trend on the road to zero harm.

The value of networking should not be overlooked, most would agree how important this is as we rarely have the opportunity to spend any time with our colleagues within the industry. To facilitate this, there are several social occasions, including the informal dinner and the conference dinner, at which the winners of the Innovations Awards are presented.

My colleagues and I look forward to the opportunity of catching up with you in Townsville in August.

FAREWELL LUNCH

Presenters

Jenny Brockie

Jenny Brockie is one of Australia's most experienced and respected broadcasters and television documentary makers. She currently hosts INSIGHT on SBS TV, where she facilitates a lively discussion each week involving more than 50 people.

Jenny has won many prestigious awards, including two United Nations Association Media Peace Prizes for her work on INSIGHT.

The Hon Clive Brown

Clive chairs the National Mine Safety Framework (NMSF) Steering Group, which comprises representatives from State/Territory and Australian Governments, industry associations and key trade unions. The aim of the NMSF is to deliver a nationally consistent mine health and safety regime.

Since 2005, Clive has worked as a consultant to a number of mining companies on government-business-community relations and is presently chairman of two public companies. From 2001-2005, Clive served as the Minister for State Development in the Western Australian Government. He also held a variety of shadow portfolios between 1993-2001. Prior to entering Parliament, Clive worked in the union movement and was a member of the National and State Occupational Safety & Health Commissions.

Bill Champion

Bill joined Rio Tinto in 2002 and has over 34 years mining industry experience and 20 years in executive leadership roles across copper, molybdenum, gold and diamond commodity groups. Bill is currently Managing Director of Rio Tinto Coal Australia which manages Blair Athol, Hail Creek and Kestrel mines, and the Clermont project in Queensland. In New South Wales, Rio

Tinto Coal Australia manages Coal & Allied's assets at Mount Thorley Warkworth, Hunter Valley Operations and Bengalla. The mines produce approximately 58Mt of steaming and metallurgical coal annually. Born in the United States, Bill has a B.Sc. in chemical engineering.

Phil Jauncey

Phil is a Performance Psychologist, keynote speaker and corporate educator. He has a strong academic background and is a registered Psychologist. Phil worked with the Brisbane Lions and Broncos for 15 years including 3 Premierships in each. He is currently sports psychologist with the Australian Baseball team and the Queensland Bulls. He was a sports psychologist at the Barcelona, Sydney and Athens Olympic Games.

His major corporate consultancies have involved working with companies in a broad range of industries, in staff evaluation, educate-the-educator, communication, understanding self, time enhancement, business management and change management. Currently, he has an on-going consultancy with Vale.

Richard Johnstone

Richard is a Professor in the Griffith University Law School at Griffith University, where he is the Director of the Socio-Legal Research Centre. He was the foundation Director of the National Research Centre for Occupational Health and Safety Regulation, and is now an Adjunct Professor in the Regulatory Institutions Network at the Australian National University and co-director of the National Research Centre.

His books include Safety, Courts and Crime (Federation Press, 2003), Systems and Sanctions: Regulating Workplace Safety (Oxford University Press, 1999) (with Neil Gunningham) and Occupational Health and Safety Law and Policy (Thompson Law Book, 1997 and 2ed 2004).

Presenters

Karl Kruszelnicki

Karl is the man with the answers when it comes to Science and Technology. With weekly Radio shows in Australia and in the UK on the BBC, regular television appearances, magazine articles and 25 published books.

In 2002, Dr Karl was honoured with the prestigious Ig Nobel prize awarded by Harvard University in the USA for his ground-breaking research into “Belly Button Lint and why it is almost always blue”. Dr Karl received the Member of the Order of Australia Award in the 2006 Australia Day Honour’s list. His enthusiasm for science and his effervescent style are totally infectious. No one is better able to convey the excitement and wonder of it all than Dr Karl.

David Reece

David is a consultant with The Safety Managers – a mining safety, risk and emergency management based consultancy. David has held various positions within the mining industry prior to commencing with The Safety Managers, some of which include Senior Inspector of Mines – Qld Dept. Mines and Energy;

Mine Manager at Dartbrook, Central and North Goonyella Coal Mines.

He holds a Bachelor of Engineering (Mining); Graduate Certificate in Mineral Resources (Risk Management); Manager’s Certificate of Competency and qualifications in emergency management, training and auditing.

Brett Whiteoak

After completing high school at Ipswich Grammar in 1978, Brett went to sea for nearly 20 years, eventually sailing as Captain of the Mobil Flinders, Australia’s largest oil-tanker trading around the Mediterranean. In 1997 he left Australia and rode a motorbike through Russia and the Middle East for a year. He arrived in the UK, joined BP and had several international assignments before taking on his present role as Australasian Shipping Manager.

A keen runner, Brett won the Queensland Schoolboys 800m & 1,500m and will represent Australia in his age-group at the World Triathlon Titles this year.

Paul Zealand

Paul is an Executive General Manager with Origin Energy - a leading Australasian integrated energy company with interests in oil and gas exploration and production, energy retailing and power generation. Paul manages Origin’s portfolio of oil and gas exploration and production assets in Australia and

New Zealand, including Australia’s largest coal seam gas production facilities in central Queensland.

Prior to joining Origin, Paul had 25 years oil and gas experience with upstream, refining and strategy assignments in New Zealand with Shell at various locations in Europe and Australia; prior to joining Origin in 2005 was Chairman and General Manager of Shell in New Zealand.

Master of Ceremonies

Bruce Young

Recognised as one of Australia’s leading golf journalists, Gold Coast based Bruce Young will MC this year’s Conference.

Highly regarded for his golf related work on radio and television and as a contributor to a range of golfing websites and magazines, Bruce is developing a growing reputation for his role in MC and Facilitation work at functions and conferences. Earlier in his career Bruce travelled widely while caddying on the professional golf circuits of the world before marketing one of Australia’s most successful golf course design companies throughout the Pacific Rim. Bruce turned to a career in Media in 1999 and has quickly established himself in that role.

SUNDAY 23rd August

6.30pm WELCOME FUNCTION – Reef HQ

Proudly sponsored by Peabody Energy Australia

Reef HQ is the venue this evening. Located immediately adjacent to The Museum of Tropical Queensland on the banks of the Ross River, this great venue is perfect for the Welcome Function, an event that we consider to be one of the most important at this Conference, setting the tone for the next three days. A mouth watering menu featuring fresh seafood and including beverages and entertainment will be served in a casual atmosphere allowing you to mingle freely with fellow delegates.

COACH TRANSFERS

At the conclusion of the first business session, Coaches will be waiting outside TECC to transfer delegates to Reef HQ.

Partner and Guest Tickets $65.00 per person

MONDAY 24th August
